Korean Reds Attack U.S. on 150 Mile Front

War Hits Home! Amboy Corporal Wounded in So. Korea

Cpl. Van Natta Hit, Evacuated Back to Japan

Defense Department Notifies His Mother

The Korean conflict drew closer to Dixon Sunday when Mrs. Robert Van Natta Sr., Amboy, learned from the defense department her son—Cpl. Robert Van Natta Jr.—was wounded in action.

A terse note received Sunday by the mother of the 23-year-old soldier said he was seriously wounded and was evacuated to Japan, but nothing further is known.

Played H. S. Football

Young Van Natta was graduated from Amboy high school after playing varsity football two years He was drafted into the army in 1945 and served two years, spending 18 months with the occupation forces in Germany. He was discharged in 1947.

He worked with his father as a carpenter for a while but re-enlisted in 1948 with his brother, Richard, 21.

Cpl. Van Natta went west after the two signed up, and his brother went east. Robert had spent 15 months in Japan before the shooting started in Korea. Richard has the same length of service in Germany.

Shipped Out Fast

Robert apparently shipped out to Korea immediately after hostilities began, for his family has heard nothing since GI's landed to help the South Koreans.

His parents, however, did receive a present from him in Bay, when he was still in Japan.

Union to Picket Stores Against 'Scare Buying'

Philadelphia, July 24—(AP)—Members of the Transport Workers Union (CIO) are going to march on a new kind of picket line this week.

Andrew J. Kaelin, president of local 234, representing 10,500 Philadelphia Transportation Co workers, said yesterday the union will establish picket lines at retail stores to stop "scare buying" and unnecessary hoarding of food and other commodities.

The pickets will be selected from the local's 3,000 members who are veterans of both world wars, Kaelin said

Picket activity will be directed against customers Kaelin said who are creating artificial shortages by panic buying, and not against shopkeepers.

Aide Says Gen. Dean Escaped From Taejon, Then Returned

An Advanced American Command Post in Korea, July 24.—(AP)—Maj. Gen. William F. Dean, the fighting commander of the fighting 24th division, escaped burning Taejon Thursday night after personally leading a bitter street-by-street battle against tank-led North Korean hordes

But the general stayed behind in the mountains—now enemy territory to round up American stragglers.

When last reported early Friday morning, Dean had not been wounded, although others in his party were hit in a running fight out of Taejon.

The account came from an aide, Lt. Arthur Clarke of Boone, Iowa. Clarke led a dozen men from Dean's party into American lines at noon Sunday.

Listed as Missing

(Earlier, the army had listed the 50-year-old Dean as missing in action.

(There appeared to be some confusion in the two stories. Clarke's account, saying Dean had not been wounded, is the more recent.)

Clarke himself was wounded in the shoulder He related this story of the Taejon fighting and flight:

Dean, 6-foot-2-inch, sandy-haired, former Berkeley, Calif., policeman, was in the thick of the battle. He directed bazooka teams firing the new king-size rockets against Red tanks and lugged ammunition for buck privates.

By nightfall the Korean Reds were everywhere Dean gathered a small group in jeeps and trucks and they roared through the burm-

Reds Claim Bach Set Theories in Music for Them

Berlin, July 24—(AP)—Composer Johann Sebastian Bach died 200 years ago but Russian and German Communists say he set their doctrines to music.

The Soviet control commission's official newspaper, Taegliche Rundschau, welcomed Bach into the Communist fold.

An editorial in the paper said he put into music "thoughts of world development which were later put in legal form by Marx and Engels and now instituted in the Soviet Union and the people's democracies."

Guardsmen on Way to Camp Die in Flames

Enroute to Air War Games in Tennessee

Myrtle Beach, S C., July 24—(AP)—An Air Force transport hurtled into swampland near here yesterday and exploded into a blazing funeral pyre for 34 servicemen.

The dead included 30 members of the Tennessee Air National Guard, en route to Nashville from war games in this area. Four air reserve crewmen were on the plane.

Minutes after the C-46 climbed from Municipal airport here it plunged into the pine-spotted muckland. The servicemen were still within sight of the airport until just before the ship crashed.

Gasoline Fed Flames

Towering, gasoline-fed flames pushed would-be rescuers back. Helpless, they watched the cremation. When the flames died, white-jacketed army medical corpsmen began removing the bodies. Late last night, they had recovered 15. The others were trapped in buried, charred wreckage.

Bits of the big transport were flung in a 100-yard circle. The wings were still further away.

There were conflicting reports about the crash. Some said the plane seemed to explode in mid-air. But a pilot who flew over the Carolina swampland said the ship didn't blow up until it struck.

At Nashville Sunday dinners were interrupted by a terse broadcast that a plane-load of homeward-bound guardsmen had crashed.

Families and sweethearts raced out to the Tennessee Air National Guard base. They clustered—some weeping, others white-faced and silent.

A plane landed, bringing with it returning guardsmen The clusters broke. People ran to the plane. For some there were tears and shouts of joy. When the last of the returning planes landed, people took up their vigil there and at the state capitol. Later, many were told their loved ones were dead.

With them was Mrs. Mary M.

FIRST CAVALRY HOLDS REDS—The U. S. First Cavalry stopped Reds cold in their first heavy fighting on the Taejon front above Yongdong (1). Communists gained slightly in the Hamchhang-Sangju area (2), and other Reds recaptured Yongdok (3). U. S. troops still held Imsil (4), despite Red claims of its capture. White arrows, indicate major points of Red pressure on U. S.-UN defense line (jagged symbol) from which a counter attack may be launched. American planes ranged the entire front, attacking enemy personnel and equipment.

Army Asks Newspapers to Keep Guard, Reserve Callups Secret

Washington, July 24—(AP)—To make things tougher for foreign agents, the army asked today that there be no future state or national compilations of National Guard and reserve units being called to active duty.

Maj. Gen F. L Parks, the army's chief information officer, asked wire services not to carry such stories and newspapers not to publish those already transmitted.

Such stories have been handled only after governors or national guard officials announced publicly the details of the mobilization orders affecting their states.

There is no legal restriction against preparing or publishing stories of troop movements. But the news services, newspapers and radio stations customarily accede to military requests when the matter of security is involved

The defense department on July 13 announced that military officers would withhold information concerning troop movements to the far Pacific. This is censorship at the source.

Parks told a reporter a somewhat similar system is being followed in connection with the guard and reserve units He said governors are being asked to make future announcements only for the localities whose units are being called to duty.

King Leopold Facing Tough Time as Ruler

Brussels, Belgium, July 24—(AP)—King Leopold and his Social Christian government today faced tightening opposition which promised to take a far more solid form than catcalls and press blasts.

A Socialist leader declared that a wave of strikes would start today in Belgium's Walloon area. They would spread, he said, until the king quits the throne he regained only two days ago.

See Long Fight

The Socialist spokesman indicated that no general strikes are planned immediately. Expecting the abdication fight to be a long one, the anti-Leopold party is loath to use all its weapons at once

Leopold has shown no sign he intends to submit to his opponents' demands that he abdicate and let his eldest son, Crown Prince Baudouin, reign.

Liberal ministers of state discovered this yesterday when they were summoned to a meeting of the crown council at Laeken palace They withdrew in protest when told the king would only read them an address and they would

Nation Must Remain Partly Mobilized 15 Years—Taft

Washington, July 24—(AP)—Senator Taft (R-Ohio) says the nation must remain partially mobilized for the next 10 or 15 years and we should boost taxes now to pay the costs currently

Taft called for new taxes on everybody immediately to meet what he estimated may be between $10,000,000,000 and $20,000,000,000 added annual defense costs.

The new taxes also will drain off excess buying power, Taft said in a broadcast with other lawmakers yesterday

The senate GOP policy committee chairman saw "a new normal condition in which about 20 per cent of our national production will be devoted to sustaining partial mobilization."

This, he said, is something "which we must accept as permanent, for we don't know when the Russians are going to strike."

Legion Wants Imprisonment For Commies

Indianapolis, July 24—(AP)—Department commanders of the American Legion adopted unanimously yesterday a resolution calling for imprisonment of any person who supports or sponsors subversive acts against the government.

The resolution was adopted at a conference summoned by National Commander George N. Craig of Brazil, Ind., who called on the Legion's three million members to campaign for "immediate enactment of universal military training legislation."

Aimed at Reds

Lewis K Gough of Pasadena, Calif., head of the California department presented the imprisonment resolution When asked by Craig if it applied to the Communist element, Gough replied that was the target of the measure.

The resolution's text was: "Resolved that any person who knowingly aids abets or assists or in any way practices implementation of a subversive policy of a nation bent upon destruction of our government by violence or other means be subject to imprisonment as a criminal."

Gen. M'Arthur Says Invaders Are 'Repulsed'

See Broad Flanking Movement by Enemy

Tokyo, Tuesday, July 25—(AP)—Hard-charging North Korean Reds attacked Monday and Monday night all along a twisting 150-mile front nearly the breadth of Korea, but "continued to be repulsed" by American and South Korean defenders, General MacArthur's headquarters reported today.

The latest assault described in detail by MacArthur was made by eight tanks with infantrymen on first cavalry division positions near Yongdong Monday night.

Tanks Knocked Out

The headquarters announcement said the Red infantry was hurled back and three of the tanks were knocked out by 3.5-inch bazookas. American tank-killer teams were hunting the other five in the darkness.

Field dispatches confirmed the Red drive against the first cavalry and also reported another separate push by the Communist second infantry division along back roads in the mountains northeast of Yongdong.

Roving tank-infantry teams of the invaders slithered along the west coast as far south as the port of Mokpo, near the southwest tip of Korea. MacArthur's announcement said these Reds were opposed only by the South Korean police but secret measures were being taken to eliminate the broad flanking threat.

Dispatches from the front late Monday night said Red pressure mounted steadily all day against American lines astride the Taejon-Yongdong highway, while 20 to 30 miles northeast another drive was in progress, pronging out along three roads.

Hal Boyle There

On the Yongdong front, AP correspondent Hal Boyle reported Red infantry at one time got behind advanced American positions and threw up a mortar-racked road block.

This serious threat was cleared out in two hours with the aid of American tanks and artillery, Boyle reported.

North and northeast of Yongdong, a force identified as the North Korean second infantry division pushed its three-speared attack on other American positions.

One second-division column reached Poun, 22 miles north of Yongdong and 35 miles northwest of the rail-highway hub of Kumchon.

American planes and ground troops were credited with knocking out five of the eight tanks lead-

One of the sessions will be held here in Dixon on Wednesday, with a banquet at the Elks club Wednesday night.

Food Plentiful; Hoarding, Price Raising Both Hit

Washington, July 24—(AP)—Secretary of Agriculture Brannan said today there is an adequate supply of foods of all kinds and "there is no need of hoarding or increases in prices"

He also told the house agriculture subcommittee he found "no justification whatsoever" for a nearly nationwide increase of a cent a loaf for bread

The bread price increase, he said, was made despite little or no increase in the cost of wheat, labor or other costs of making bread

Price jumps in beef, hogs, sugar and coffee, the secretary said, were in items which were not under the government support program.

Maybe It's a Good Idea, But New Yorkers Aren't Rushing To Leave Town for Rural Area

By GEORGE CORNELL
Associated Press Staff Writer
(For Hal Boyle)

New York (AP) - The letter came from the home town.

"The time has come," it said "for you to do what you said you would do."

That is, get out of New York City.

New York is not home to a lot of people that live here and the kinfolk back home these days are remembering old conversations that went something like this.

Big-city career kid - "You're absolutely right, pop. New York City would be the first place they'd hit if the world ever started throwing these atom-bombs around.

Pop - Seems to me it's not a very safe place to be."

Career kid - "Well, it's nothing to worry about now. But if things ever begin to get hot, I wouldn't stay there on a bet."

Now it looks to pop as if things were beginning to get hot, and his letters were saying so although sometimes in just a semi-serious manner:

Small Town Not Bad

"You know," he writes, "this small-town life has got some compensations. The Russians don't even know we're on the map."

The words stemmed from the fact that the atomic era had made the big, crowded cities the soft spots in the nation's defenses as the biggest city, New York is the softest spot.

The giant metropolitan area contains about 14,000,000 people - the city itself 8,000,000. Intensifying the congestion 4,000,000 commuters swarm into the concrete heap of Manhattan every day via train, car, subway and bus.

Sometimes, the letters get real surly.

"I saw your old boss the other day. He said he'd be glad to have you working for him again, if you ever get back this way."

There haven't been any indications around here of any abrupt, mass departures yet.

Industry Sets Tight

Joseph A. Sinclair, secretary of the New York Commerce and Industry association, says he hasn't heard of any industry pulling out and heading for the back country.

"A lot of people say they're going to find a good hideout in the mountains," he said. "But I don't know of any that have done it."

The real estate people, however, have noted a revealing trend.

"The market in country places was remarkably good all through the last three months," said Robert Furman, of Previews, Inc. "I hate an idea the general international unrest is in the back of their minds and the A-bomb may have had something to do with it, but people don't come in here and say so."

Many "Watching"

Since the Korean flareup, Furman added, it appears that many people are in a state of indecision.

"They're watching the front pages," he said, "trying to make up their minds what to do."

But the folks back home already are singing the old song that goes, "You oughta moo-oove, way out in the outskirts of town."

That's what many New Yorkers apparently are doing, according to preliminary 1950 census figures. These showed a 60 per cent population rise in the major suburbs, compared to a mere 5 per cent upsurge in the city.

It's so peaceful in the country.

Canada Pays Tribute to Dead Leader

Ottawa, July 24 - (AP)— The world's great joined Canadians today in paying tribute to former Prime Minister William Lyon Mackenzie King, a senior statesman of the British Commonwealth who died Saturday night of pneumonia.

He will be given a state funeral Wednesday. For the 24 hours preceding, the body will rest in state in Canada's parliament.

Funeral services will be held in King's church at Ottawa, St. Andrew's Presbyterian. Burial will be in Toronto's Mt. Pleasant cemetery, beside his father, mother and brother.

Prime Minister from December, 1921, to November, 1948, the 75-year-old King had the British commonwealth's longest tenure as a chief of state.

Tributes came from King George VI and Queen Elizabeth, President Truman, and Canadian Prime Minister Louis St. Laurent.

The former prime minister, who resigned on Nov. 15, 1948, died at his summer home in the Gatineau hills, 20 miles north of Ottawa. He had never quite recovered from a circulatory ailment which developed in Paris in September, 1948. He lapsed into unconsciousness Saturday afternoon and died within a few hours without awakening.

A bachelor, he had few relatives.

Helmstedt, in north central Germany, is believed to have been founded about 900, according to the National Geographic Society.

Father Teaches Son How to Shoot, Then Orders Him to Fire on Mother in Quarrel

Jonesboro, Ark., July 24 - (AP) - A 72-year-old father was in jail here today because, said police, he taught his small son to shoot and then had the boy shoot his mother.

As a result, said State Police Sgt. Wyatt Patrick, Mrs. Jewel Wire, 42, of Hardy, was hospitalized with a bullet wound in her right lung.

The husband, Patrick said, will be charged with assault to kill, even though the shot was fired by the couple's eight-year-old son, Billy, Saturday night.

Patrick quoted Mrs. White as giving him this account:

After a quarrel with her aged husband, the latter handed Billy a .22 caliber rifle, led him out in the back yard and delivered a quick lesson in marksmanship.

Afterwards, the boy and his father returned to the house where he told the boy, "If she don't do right, shoot her."

Mrs. White and her husband became involved in a fight, he swinging at her with a walking cane and she at him with a stick of wood.

In the midst of the battle, Mrs. White heard her husband order, "shoot her, son" and the boy fired.

Mrs. White told the sergeant that after her husband and the boy left she walked to a neighbor's home and was taken to a hospital. Her condition was reported as satisfactory.

Young Billy, Patrick added, told a story identical to that of Mrs. White and so did Mrs. White's 10-year-old daughter by a previous marriage.

Congress Will Hear Brass on U. S. Defenses

Washington, July 24—(AP)—Congress members called on top military leaders today for an appraisal of the nation's fighting readiness and an accounting of the billions spent on defense since 1947.

As lawmakers pushed emergency measures which would hasten the country toward a virtual war footing, the house armed services committee launched a closed-door inquiry into the state of American preparedness.

Where Did Money Go?

Chairman Vinson (D-Ga) said in advance that the big question Pentagon planners will be asked is: What have the armed forces to show for the $48,000,000,000 they have been allotted in the past four years?

The committee led off today with Admiral Forrest P. Sherman, chief of Naval operations. He will be followed on Wednesday by Gen. Hoyt S. Vandenberg, Air Force chief of staff.

On Friday, the committee has called Secretary of the Army Frank Pace, who also was director of the budget during some of the time when defense requests were pared sharply; Gen. J. Lawton Collins, Army chief of staff; and Lt. Gen. Alfred M. Gruenther, deputy chief of staff for planning.

For security reasons their testimony will not be heard publicly. But Vinson told reporters the nation will be informed on essential details.

Appropriations for the 1950 fiscal year which ended June 30 were in the neighborhood of $13,000,000,000, not counting new contract authority. Before the outbreak of the Korean fighting, house and senate committees were working on a 1951 figure roughly equal to that for 1950.

So President Truman's request for an additional $10,000,000,000 will likely bring the 1951 defense budget to $23,000,000,000 unless new emergencies call for a further boost.

For Korean War

Vinson estimates that between four and six billion—or roughly one half—of the president's new money request will be used directly to support the Korean defense.

The rest, he told reporters, probably will go into new equipment.

Mrs. Ann Poling, 609 Delaware St., Indianapolis, Indiana, who was suffering from deficiencies of Vitamins B1, B2, Iron, and Niacin, smiles as she pours herself another cup of coffee. Mrs. Poling says life lately is like it used to be years ago . . . "that is, of course, since I've been taking HADACOL." She can't get over what a difference HADACOL has made in her outlook on life.

Mrs. Poling says, "Three months ago a good friend of mine told me about HADACOL—she knew how much stomach distress I have had. Any type of food that was fried or that had acid in it I just couldn't eat. It affected my sleep, too. In fact, I couldn't have been in a worse condition. When I ate what I wanted to I felt miserable and when I didn't eat these things—I didn't have a proper diet and still felt bad. Then when I started taking HADACOL, I felt better immediately. I've got a bottle in the house now—and will continue to keep HADACOL from now on. I have told many folks about HADACOL—and they all thank me for telling them about HADACOL. They all have gotten wonderful results from HADACOL like I have. Now I eat anything I want and get a good night's sleep. I can't praise HADACOL enough."

HADACOL Can Help You, Too! . . . as it has helped thousands of others whose systems lacked Vitamins B1, B2, Iron, and Niacin. Yes, even hundreds of doctors have recommended HADACOL to their patients. The HADACOL formula is so effective for stomach distress, nervousness, insomnia, constipation, aches and pains of neuritis and a general run-down condition caused by such deficiencies.

Make Up Your Mind . . . to give HADACOL a chance to help you as it has helped countless thousands of others. Remember, there are no substitutes for HADACOL. Always insist on the genuine HADACOL. No risk involved. Buy a bottle of HADACOL either the trial size $1.25 or the large family or hospital size $3.50 and if HADACOL does not help you your money will be refunded. —Adv.

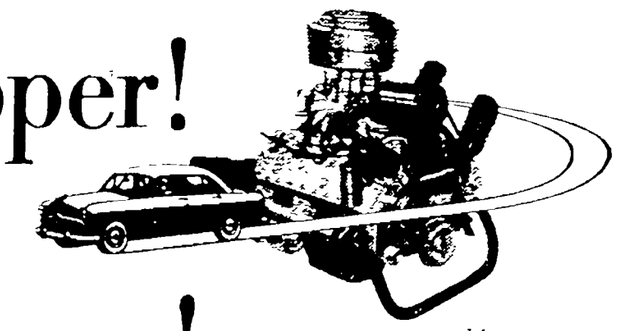
What a stepper!



Just hint to the gas pedal and she steps out like no other low-priced car. And that's true whether you're driving a Ford V-8 or "Six". But this high-stepper is a low spender when it comes to costs. You can own a V-8, for example, for hundreds less than most "Sixes"—and a Ford "Six" for even less.

What a stopper!

This '50 Ford actually helps you apply the brakes. They're 35% easier-acting King-Size Brakes that use car momentum to help you stop. Like Ford's extra-rugged "Liteguard" Body, they give you the kind of protection you'd expect only of costliest cars. And for added safety and comfort, you ride low and level in the "Mid Ship" section of the car, between the wheels—not over them. You're cradled in comfort on "Hydra-Coil" front springs and "Para-Flex" rear springs that give a road-hugging smoothness truly amazing.

What a looker!

Yes, again in '50, Ford received the Fashion Academy Gold Medal as "Fashion Car of the Year." And Fords stay good looking because their baked-on finish is "made to live outdoors." That means high resale value which, together with Ford's low running costs, puts Ford further out front as America's savingest car.

American Industry Can Absorb War-Time Spending Program Without Batting an Eye

New York, July 24—(AP)—There's an even chance the nation's business boom can absorb the $10,000,000,000 military spending program without critical disruption of our standards of civilian life.

It depends on how well inflation can be avoided. Price boosts would reduce the amount of goods—military or other—that a dollar will buy. And this could make the whole program much more costly.

Today no one knows to what extent present purchasing power of the dollar will be maintained.

President Truman warns there will be repercusions on our domestic economy. But he also has a plan aimed at keeping them in reasonable bounds.

Some to Suffer

From an economic standpoint some persons and some busineses are likely to suffer, at least temporarily.

As consumer production is cut back some workers will be out of jobs. But output of military goods will call for added manpower in other industries, such as aircraft and shipbuilding.

Here are ways in which nearly every one will be affected:

Your taxes—both individual and business—will go up. If the controls the president asks become effective, you'll find credit terms a little stifer when you go to buy an automobile, television set or almost any other article.

Quite a Problem

The government's problem is: To spend $10 billion without stirring an inflation that could open wide cracks in the economy.

Considerable steel, aluminum and other materials will be diverted to military use. No one yet has said how much of each will be needed. As they are diverted there will be less for civilian use.

This means less raw material to build houses, automobiles and a variety of items such as refrigerators, kitchen cabinets, radio and television sets, etc.

Could Upset Balance

Reduced supply of these could upset the balance that keeps business stable, unless demand declines at the same time.

To put a checkrein on wild demand is the aim of the president's program. He seeks authority to control such main props of the business boom as consumer credit, construction and steel consumption.

The theory is: The nation's output of goods and services is at an annual rate of nearly $270 billion. If some 4 per cent of demand for these goods and services could be restrained, it would balance the military spending, even if the $10 billion is spent in a year.

The president called it "substantial redirection of economic resources."

Obviously some industries will supply more than others to the military program. Tanks, airplane engines, ships will require large tonnages of steel, for instance.

To assure such supplies, the president wants direct authority to establish priorities, to allocate materials, and to limit the amounts used in non-essential manufacture.

Many businessmen and industrialist disagree over the means of accomplishing this.

They say: Tell us what the military needs and we'll provide it. They contend voluntary industry controls worked well in the latter days of World War II and should be used again, instead of turning the job over to a government agency. They say that priorities bogged down early in the war when federal agencies issued them without regard to total supplies available.

Steel An Example

The steel industry is producing at an all-time record rate of around 100 million tons a year. Millions of tons could be diverted without crippling normal civilian manufacture.

And many in the industry say such diversion could best be handled by a committee set up by the industry itself.

In the housing field, where the government has moved to tighten mortgage terms, a move toward voluntary controls has been initiated.

The National Association of Home Builders this week urged its 17,000 members voluntarily to cut back their starts on new homes, which it said reached the record high of 142,000 in June.

Thomas P. Coogan of Miami, NAHB president, also called on the builders to put purchase on a day-to-day basis and avoid stockpiling or hoarding of materials.

"Sound Move"

Thomas S. Holden of New York, president of F. W. Dodge Corp., construction news and marketing specialist, said curtailing of real estate credit was a sound move "even without the Korean crisis."

Holden said the government has been "over-stimulating the housing boom" by its easy credit policy and that the home market already was ripe for correction either by credit restrictions or buyer resistance.

He predicted that "unless further and more stringent curbs are invoked, volume is apt to remain relatively high."

This probably holds true for most sections of our economy. Industry is turning out goods at a pace never before equaled. The demands of the civilian population also are at a record high. But a moderate belt-tightening could make a vast amount of productive capacity available for the military program.

Producers of basic materials—steel, building materials—will maintain their present high-speed manufacturing pace. Whatever cutbacks occur will affect the fabricators of the materials who will have less to work with, after military allocations are met. And many of these manufacturers got into war production before and may again.

There will be inflationary pressures resulting from the military program. "Scarce buying" and hoarding at any level, from consumer to manufacturer, could put such a squeeze on prices that severe cost increases would result.

If this happens, the president has warned he will not hesitate to recommend price control and rationing.

Des Moines Register Boosts Subscriptions

Des Moines, July 24—(AP)—The Des Moines Register today announced a subscription increase of 5 cents a week for carrier delivery within the city of Des Moines. The new price is 25 cents a week. Price of the Sunday Register remains at 15 cents.

The increase will become effective Monday. Sharply rising costs were given as the reason for the price change.

No increase in price outside the city of Des Moines is contemplated, the Register said.

Soviet Terror Recruits West German 'Spies'

By TOM REEDY

Berlin, July 25—(AP)—The Russian zone police are using terror methods to build a new spy ring in Western Germany.

Traveling businessmen have fallen victim to it. Some of their experiences have filtered into anti-Communist circles where the new plan of the Red gestapo has been disclosed.

This is the way it works: Germans who have reason to enter the East Zone for business or social contacts have been arrested in varying numbers, estimated by Berlin sources up to as many as 500 in the last three or four months.

These unfortunates are held in frightening cellars and interrogated until the security police figure they are sufficiently cowed. Then they are released—if they sign a paper guaranteeing to keep the East Zone Communist regime informed of all activities in their own home areas.

Effect Not Known

How effective this type of terror-inspired espionage has or will be cannot be gauged as yet. The aim of the East Zone police is described as two-fold:

1. To establish some kind of information ring composed of persons who are not in any way associated with the Communist party or its front organizations, so that none of its agents come under suspicion.

2. To implant in the minds of handpicked West Germans an awe for the East German regime and a growing feeling that "the arm of the security police is long," just as it was in Hitler's time.

A group of anti-Communist lawyers and former judges in Berlin and East Germany has investigated a number of cases of error arrests which were made for this purpose.

The group, which calls itself "free jurists of the Soviet zone," came into being about a year ago with a tiny, well-concealed membership.

One of the leaders of the group said an example of how the traveler can be tricked into at least promising some kind of service happened recently with a salesman from East Friesland. He was picked up by the security police in Goerlitz and held two weeks until he signed the desired paper.

Violated Pledge

The salesman violated his pledge and told friends about it when he returned to the west. Not all will do that, this informant said.

Many of the West Germans have relatives in the East Zone or valuable business contacts. These would be in immediate jeopardy, the security police are careful to point out, unless the conscripted agent does as told.

The plan has been attributed as one of the ideas of Wilhelm Zaisser, burly chief of security in the East Communist government and former German general of Communist forces in the Spanish civil war.

State Militia To Take Form, Says Governor

Springfield, Ill., July 24—(AP)—Aides of Governor Stevenson worked today on organization details for a new Illinois reserve militia.

The governor announced late Saturday that a reserve militia will be speedily formed for the state's internal security protection.

The voluntary emergency force will be established regardless of whether the Illinois National Guard is called into federal service, he said but will function only in the guard's absence from the state.

Takes Board's Advice

Stevenson said his announcement was made in acceptance of recommendations by a board of military advisers. The board is headed by Lt. Gen. Samuel T. Lawton (Ret).

The reserve militia probably will be styled after the organization that took over National Guard functions within the state while the Guard saw federal duty during World War II.

The force reached a peak strength of 7,000, all men between the ages of 18 and 55, and was equipped with several hundred motor vehicles supplied by the War Department.

Its seven ground regiments and eight air squadrons were scattered in the Chicago area and downstate.

Aided in Distress

The old militia guarded strategic Mississippi river bridges, and helped out in floods, tornadoes and major train wrecks.

Two of the main questions before Stevenson now are how big an emergency force to set up and who to name as commander. The governor will tackle these and other problems when he returns tonight or tomorrow from a southern Illinois inspection trip.

'Marshall Plan of Ideas' Has Merit

Should the United States go in for an aggressive "Marshall plan of ideas" to implement its material assistance to the western world? Senator Benton of Connecticut, who has been urging this move in congress, thinks so and his belief is shared by a great many people who are gravely disturbed by the success of Russia's high-powered propaganda.

The masters of the Kremlin are thorough. They have pressed ahead in the cold war with weapons, with what amounts to blackmail on a high international level, and they have been clever and efficient in using their satellites as instruments of conquest. They have developed well-trained undergrounds everywhere, including the United States, whose duty is to advance the cause of communism by every conceivable means—including, in the event of all-out war, sabotage and destruction on a far broader scale than most Americans seem to be able to contemplate. The evidence in this regard which the FBI has painstakingly gathered over the years, some of which was recently made public, shows that the Politburo leaves no stone unturned. And, in addition, the Russians regard propaganda as one of the most important of all weapons, and are acting accordingly.

In one of his late columns, Marquis Childs described the pattern of Soviet propaganda in Germany. He wrote, "Basic elements in this pattern are the petitions for peace and against the atomic bomb being circulated by the millions in both zones of Germany. These same petitions were signed by several million North Koreans beginning in 1947 when they were first introduced on orders of Moscow.

"The objective is clear. It is to identify communism with peace and to put the United States in the role of aggressor, holding the terror weapon of the atomic bomb over the heads of peace-loving peoples everywhere. If and when the United States should resort to the atomic weapon . . . then the base would be prepared to foment a world-wide hatred of America and Americans."

It may seem absurd to Americans that the Russians can succeed with this propaganda line. But according to men who are in the best position to know they are succeeding. The western nations, it is true, have beaten the communist in all postwar elections. But in many the communist vote has been heavy—and the communist minority is undoubtedly far better organized, and forms a far more cohesive whole, than its opposition.

In a recent speech, William C. Bullitt, who was an ambassador to Russia under Franklin Roosevelt, said, "In Italy, more than 20 per cent of the workmen are unemployed, and the Communists, who gathered one-third of the votes at the last elections, are gaining in strength. In France, the government is far weaker than any French government before the second World War, and its entire apparatus is riddled with Communists. Even the head of French atomic research is a Communist . . ."

Situations such as this are not, of course, the result of Soviet propaganda alone. But that propaganda has been and is a powerful factor. Hence the growing interest in a "Marshall plan of ideas' 'through which we would tell the world the truth as we see it.

Some of nature's creatures are bigger when young than as adults. The tadpole of an odd South American frog grows to be more than 10 inches long. It then starts shrinking, until it turns into a frog that is only 2 to 2½ inches long when fully adult.

Abundant Living

E. STANLEY JONES

Rom. 7:24—25; 8:1—2; John 7:9; Luke 10:9.

WITHIN YOU—AT YOUR DOORS!

There are two great streams of religious thought in the world today. One stream maintains, "Everything is within you; all you need to do is to awaken your latent power; you have the spark of the Divine within you—kindle it." Or in the extreme form, as in the Vedanta in India, "You not only have the Divine within you, you are Divine, you are God—realize it." The capital of this realm of thought is Benares, India.

The other stream maintains, "You are a sinful creature; there is nothing good within you; you need the invading grace of God from without to awaken you, to redeem you." The capital of this realm of thought is Berne, Switzerland, the home of Karl Barth.

Do we have to vote with our lives on one side or the other of these viewpoints? No. Each has a truth, but it is only a half-truth—the truth is beyond each. The truth is in the Kingdom of God. The Kingdom of God is fulfillment: "until it be fulfilled in the Kingdom of God." The half-truth in each is fulfilled in the whole truth of the Kingdom. The Kingdom fulfills the truth in immanence—"the kingdom of God is within you." It fulfills the truth in transcendence—"the kingdom of God cometh," the Kingdom of God is at your doors. The Kingdom is both pervasive in immanence and invasive in transcendence; it is within us and beyond us.

Man is sinful in that he is sinning not only against the God who made him, but also against the Kingdom written into the texture of his being—he is sinning against himself. This view makes sin worse than if man is looked on as naturally sinful; for if he is naturally sinful, then is sin so bad, if it is natural? Why should I be punished for doing what is natural, for fulfilling my own nature? But if sin is not only sinful, but also unnatural, then sin is doubly bad—it is revolt against God and myself. But sin is not natural; it is an attempt to live against my real nature.

O God, Thou has not fashioned us in our inmost being and then abandoned us, turning us over to forces too strong for us. Thou are protecting at every step our self-ruin. Help us not to consent to our own ruin. In Jesus' name. Amen.

Draw Trumps to Double Low Bid

By OSWALD JACOBY

Written for NEA Service

"I don't know how many bridge experts there are," said Hard Luck Joe, "but I don't think you'll find one who agrees with our bidding. We could have made a game at anything but spades. I don't think 200 points is a satisfactory exchange for that game."

"I also don't know how many bridge experts there are," said Joe's partner, East. "But I'm sure of one thing. There's one less than you think."

The cause of this little exchange was the hand shown today. Joe, holding the West cards, had made a take-out double of the opening bid of one spade. East had passed for penalties.

Joe opened the king of clubs, holding the first trick. East signaled with the deuce of clubs, but Joe continued the suit anyway.

South ruffed the second club with the four of spades, and returned a low heart. West put up the jack of hearts, but East overtook with the queen of hearts to lead the queen of spades.

South won with the ace of spades, cashed the ace of hearts, and ruffed a heart in dummy. He returned to his hand by ruffing a club with the six of spades. By this time he had already won five tricks, and the king of trumps was a sure sixth trick. That was all he managed to make, and he was therefore set one trick, for a loss of 200 points.

Hard Luck Joe was right, of course, when he said that a penalty of 200 points was poor compensation for the game that they could have made. Somehow or other, East was not pleased with the result and seemed to blame Joe for it. Do you see why? Try to find the answer before reading on.

Joe's great mistake was his failure to lead a trump at the very first opportunity. Had he done so, the defenders would have wound up with 10 tricks—enough for a game at spades if they had been the declaring side!

If the opening lead is a spade, South wins with the king and should lead hearts in the attempt to get a ruff in the dummy. East wins the heart trick and returns another spade, forcing out declarer's last top trump and taking out dummy's last trump.

No matter what declarer then leads, East is bound to get in with the ace of diamonds in time to draw the rest of the trumps. West's high cards would account for the rest of the tricks. South would make only his two top trumps and the ace of hearts! The penalty would be 1100 points instead of only 200.

The point that Joe overlooked is that you cannot punish a low contract if you allow declarer to make his low trumps by ruffing. You must lead trumps at every opportunity in order to draw declarer's trumps.

When East passed one spade doubled for penalties, he meant that his trumps were so long and strong that he could afford to have trumps led through him. That is the general meaning of a penalty pass.

Upheaval in Balkans Would Not Necessarily Mean War

By DeWITT MacKENZIE
AP Foreign Affairs Analyst

The danger of Communist action in the Balkans, involving Greece, naturally leads to the uncomfortable question of whether such a development would inevitably lead to World War III.

That's a reasonable query in view of the general warning given by President Truman in his message to congress last Wednesday. In studied, plain language he declared:

"I shall not attempt to predict the course of events. But I am sure that those who have it in their power to unleash or withhold acts of aggression must realize that new course to aggression in the world today might well strain to the breaking point the fabric of world peace."

What could be clearer than that? Such aggression could lead to a world war. However, the president didn't say it inevitably would lead to another general conflagration and I don't believe he intended to convey any such ultimatum.

One certainty is that we are committed to defend Greece against Red aggression. That much is inevitable. But who can foresee where the Greek upheaval might lead?

Judging from past performances Russia would duplicate her Korean performance in any Balkan upheaval. She would set the stage, equip her satellites militarily, and then push Bulgaria into the fray as the champion of Communism. Moscow herself would keep clear of the shooting. She wouldn't be the aggressor.

Anybody can see with half an eye that another world war could grow out of such a situation. But it hasn't grown out of the North Korean aggression as yet, and North Korea is a Red stooge.

The way things look now, any Balkan aggression would likely be after the style of the Korean assault.

Scinetists estimate the earth annually experiences as many as 60,000 earthquakes, big and little, or about 164 a day.

Woman Who Killed Her Two Children Under Police Guard

Northampton, Mass., July 24—(AP)—A 33-year-old woman who authorities said strangled her two children with a twisted diaper and then attempted suicide was under police guard today at Cooley Dickinson hospital.

State Police Inspector Timothy Murphy said Mrs. Alice Lampron, probably would be charged with murder in the deaths of her two-weeks-old daughter, Denise Marie, and her son, Earl Robert, Jr., three.

Murphy said Mrs. Lampron admitted in an oral statement she strangled the children and attempted to strangle herself Saturday while her husband, a military police sergeant, was on duty at Westover Air Force base.

Murphy, attached to the district attorney's office, said Mrs. Lampron was suffering from nervous exhaustion.

He Thinks the Tydings Committee Report is Disgraceful

Westbrook Pegler

New York, July 24—As a rule, when the loyal citizens of a nation have been outwitted and political dissolution and moral depression are far advanced, a people's party comes into being under the patronage of Soviet Russia and under the management of prominent native traitors. This has been the way of it in Poland, Czecho-Slovakia and Jugoslavia. It is the Soviet way but, with unimportant variations, it was used by Hitler in Norway, the Sudetenland, Poland and Austria.

Although Major Quisling of the Norwegian army, became the classical traitor of the second world war, his crime was no worse than those of the Communist traitors in the Baltic and Balkan states. It was no worse than that of the French Communist traitors who incited French soldiers to surrender or run away when Stalin's ally, Adolf Hitler, fell on France in 1940.

The fact that this country psychologically loathed Quisling and made his very name a synonym for the foulest treachery while the names of pro-Soviet traitors in other states were glossed over, is indicative of the bad faith and cynicism of our own administration in those days. Who among us remembers the names of the French traitors who weathered out the war safe in Russia and returned to France afterward mouthing "demands"? The State Department, be it remembered, was salted with such traitors and other departments were infested too.

Disgraceful Report

The disgraceful report of the Tydings committee on Senator McCarthy's charges proves that the party which administers our government and got us into this terrible fix with Russia still suffers from this apathy toward Communists. Even conceding his faults of method for the sake of argument, although they were but typical of the grossness of congress in dealing with citizens, this was one case in which the senators should have been Americans first and should have attacked the enemy instead of trying to disgrace the accuser.

I noted a similar attitude in the prevailing press and radio comment on McCarthy, much of it rank propaganda set forth as news. Some journalists, purporting to be reporters and interpreters on the air, took it upon themselves to try to discredit McCarthy by insinuations about his income and his tax returns when their obvious professional and patriotic duty was to try to confirm the facts which he pointed to.

To be sure, they were hampered as all of us are by the evil rule of the federal courts which protects Communists and fellow-travelers from denunciation. But their bad faith was shown in challenges to McCarthy to repeat his accusations off the floor where his immunity would not protect him from ruinous litigation. They knew McCarthy was no more able financially to waive immunity than they were. What else was that immunity conferred for but to let him utter his charges subject to no financial liability? There are, to be sure, shysters in the Washington press and radio corps who apparently think congressional immunity was invented to permit them to incite stooges to place upon the record false charges against patriotic men so that their papers may then vilify them.

A Common Abuse

This is a common abuse of congressional immunity by the very sort of hack who would taunt a loyal senator for legitimate conduct. Actually, more appropriate use of the immunity never was made than by Senator McCarthy.

Henry Wallace often has been described, in mitigation of his conduct, as an idealist, mystic and dreamer. These are somehow winsome terms, although, in combination, in Henry's case they always have seemed to me to suggest a belief that he was, let us say, unreliable. It is a strange fact, too, that, so far as I know, none of those who give him this harmless character ever has weighed the value of the strange letters which Henry undoubtedly wrote to his Guru, Nicholas Roerich. I never was able to establish any ulterior political purpose but I don't know of any better evidence of Henry's vagueness and gullibility than this correspondence. To me, the quality of it softens Henry's guilt in running with the Communists and standing forth as their candidate in 1948 although he maintained throughout his "campaign" that he was not a Communist himself. I don't believe he was, in the sense of being a party member, but his political convictions are mixed up in a wild swirl of spiritual economics and Oriental esoterics.

Now Henry has walked out on his own party, the so-called Progressive which was all the Communist party that we had in 1948, but more in sorrow than in anger. He wants peace as he has been proclaiming ever since he walked out of Truman's cabinet and his insinuation always has been that anyone who disagreed with his incoherencies was hell bent for war. The agony of that is that probably not one American has wanted this war of Stalin's and that Henry, though doubtless sincere, did more than any other American to comfort and aid Stalin on the road to the 38th parallel.

When the "liberation" comes and the abundant life of the concentration camps is opened for patriotic Americans, who then would be more appropriate to head the traditional people's party than Henry Wallace? Several high unioneers come to mind but none quite so mushy as Henry would be and capable of understanding and getting along most comfortably with the "advisers" who usually are sent in to assist the new democracy along the road to "recovery"?

Am I unduly pessimistic? God grant it.

Settlement of New York Paper Strike Fails

New York, July 21—(AP)—The latest effort to settle the 39-day strike against the New York World-Telegram and Sun broke down yesterday, mainly on the issue of union security.

The evening paper has not published since June 13, when the CIO American Newspaper Guild walked out and AFL mechanical unions refused to cross its picket lines.

After the mediators failed to reach an agreement, the company withdrew the "package" offer it made last Wednesday.

Union officials took a pessimistic view of a settlement, but management spokesmen said an agreement still could be reached if the guild would compromise on its union security demand.

In its package offer, the World-Telegram and Sun offered maintenance of membership—that is, that employes joining the guild would have to retain their membership for the life of the contract.

The guild, however, wants a "nine out of ten" guild shop—with 90 per cent of all eligible employes to be guild members.

Another mediation conference is set for 8.30 a.m. (CST) next Wednesday.

About 400 editorial and business employes are on strike.

Lenient Parents Set Rules For the 'Teen-Age Crowd

The father of a sixteen-year-old girl writes me that the popular attitude among most of the parents he knows is: "You have to let a teen-ager have the same privileges the others in his crowd are permitted."

He was speaking of such matters as how many dates a week are enough, how late a son or daughter can stay out, what places they can go to, etc.

"But," wrote this father, "there seems to be a catch to that way of handling the problem. That is that the most easy-going parents are the criterion and the rules for the crowd are based on their lenience."

He's right, of course, because teen-agers are usually a lot eager than their parents about hanging together.

If Mary's mother is the most lenient mother in the group, pretty soon all Mary's friends are using Mary to prove that "all the rest of the kids" can do such and such.

SMART KIDS TELL HALF THE STORY

Teen-agers never report on what the stricter parents are allowing.

And so little by little the stricter parents have to give in to keep their children from being "different" from the rest of their crowd.

If parents of any group of teen-agers would get together and decide on a happy medium between what the most lenient ones and the strictest ones consider sensible rules and regulations, then the teen-agers could be more easily managed.

But letting a teen-ager do "what the crowd does"—if that means that a parent constantly has to make concessions he doesn't think are right—is just an easy way out of a situation that is important enough to be handled with foresight and cooperation among all the parents of a teen-age crowd.

Dorothy Harrison of Amboy Weds Sterling Man Saturday

Amboy—Chantilly lace and orange blossoms fashioned the headpiece worn by Miss Dorothy LaVerne Harrison, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Harrison, Route 2, Amboy, for her marriage, Saturday, July 22, to Robert Cheshier of Sterling and formerly of Vandalia, son of the Wilson Cheshiers, Vandalia. White gladioli and orchid daisies decorated St. Patrick church, Amboy, for the 9 a. m. wedding. Rev. Fr. Robert C. Troy officiated at the double ring ceremony.

Miss Joanne Hlubek of Amboy accompanied herself on the organ as she sang "Oh, Lord I Am Not Worthy", "Ave Maria" and as the bride laid her bouquet on the altar of the Blessed Virgin, "On This Day O Beautiful Mother."

Orchid Centers Bouquet

A gown of white nylon marquisette and chantilly lace styled with a deep yoke and edged with a ruffle of lace was worn by the pretty bride. The gown had a lace peplum, long sleeves pointed at the hand and pearls were sewn into the lace ruffle at the edge of the yoke. The full skirt of the gown fell into a sweeping cathedral train trimmed with rows of lace coming to points in the center of the back. The bride's bouquet was of white daisies centered with a white orchid and her fingertip veil was of nylon illusion. The groom's gift to the bride was matched earrings, bracelet and a single strand of pearls.

Patricia Brandon of Sterling, maid of honor, wore orchid taffeta. A scalloped cape neckline; sleeves that formed part of the cape; a scalloped waistline and a gored full skirt styled her gown. She wore a picture hat of matching lace and matching mitts. Her bouquet was of white daisies.

Bridesmaid, Margie McCormick, Sterling, was gowned in chartreuse taffeta fashioned the same as the maid of honor's. Her bouquet was of white carnations.

Martin Quish of Sterling was best man and William Morrissey, Amboy, was groomsman. Joe McGrath and John Lynch, Amboy, ushered.

Twins Assist

Joyce and Janice Partington, twins, were flower girls. They wore white dotted swiss floor-length hand embroidered gowns. Their headbands were of daisies. They scattered red rose petals from their white baskets.

Stephen and Stanley, twin brothers of the bride, as ring bearers wore blue trousers, white shirts and blue bow ties. They carried satin pillows with white lace streamers.

The bride's mother wore an aqua and white dress with white accessories and the groom's mother wore a blue and white figured dress with black accessories. They both wore corsages of white and red carnations.

Breakfast at Home

A three-course wedding breakfast was served at the bride's home for about 50 guests. A two tiered cake decorated with pink roses and chartreuse leaves decorated the table. Mrs. Clem Greenwood and Mrs. Margaret Hinkle prepared the breakfast and Mrs. Gene Gascoigne and Miss Marilyn Laemmel of Amboy, Rita and Rosetta Harrison, twin sisters of the brice, and Marlene Harrison and Sharon Wisenberger, Rock Falls, served.

Reside in Sterling

When the newlyweds left on a two weeks wedding trip to Canada, Niagara Falls and New York the bride was wearing a two piece pin stripe dress with blue and white pique accessories and an orchid corsage. Upon their return they will reside in Sterling.

A graduate of Amboy high school with the class of 1948, the bride was employed for two years for the Frantz Manufacturing company, Sterling. The groom who attended Vandalia schools is employed at the Frantz company.

Out of town guests from Sterling, Rock Falls, Dixon, Vandalia, Highland, Avaston and West Brooklyn, Ill., and St. Louis, Mo., attended the wedding.

VFW to Purchase Wheel Chairs for Use in Community

The VFW Auxiliary has announced a campaign to raise funds to purchase wheel chairs and other hospital equipment to add to the supply on hand. This equipment is for the use of any resident of Lee county in their homes.

This community service originally started in 1940, when, through a similar campaign, wheel chairs were purchased that have been in constant use since that time. It is hoped that with the equipment purchased after the present drive that all can be promptly filled.

Funds are being raised through co-operation with Capper Publications, whose field representatives will do the canvassing in the rural district. No donations will be accepted, every resident of the county will receive full value for their money in the publications they subscribed to through the representative calling at their home.

Evelyn Roop, president of the auxiliary, and Orpha Cruse, wheel chair chairman, will have charge of the equipment, and any person needing equipment should contact them.

Former Dixon Boy in News In California

Judge and Mrs. J. O. Shaulis of this city have recently returned from a two weeks visit to California and intermediate points of great interest. Some of the high spots on the tour were Cheyenne, Wyo.; Salt Lake City, the Hoover dam, Los Vegas, Nev.; Tia Juana, Mexico, San Diego, Los Angeles, Catalina Island, Hollywood, Fresno, Yosemite National park with all its wonders, the high Sierra peaks, Oakland and San Francisco and environs, and Denver.

While in California they visited with Allen N. Smith, formerly of Dixon, and they received from Smith a letter, telling of the successful candidacy of his son, H. Allen Smith, former Dixon boy, who is running for re-election to the state legislature. The letter follows:

Los Angeles, Calif.
July 6, 1950.

Mr. and Mrs. J. O. Shaulis
Biltmore Hotel
Los Angeles, California.

Dear Friends;

Having enjoyed a visit with you this evening at the Biltmore and around Hollywod I take this opportunity to mention I am always gratified to meet friends from Dixon, the beautiful city where I resided forty-five years.

There should be numerous folk of middle age residing in Dixon who attended your schools with my sons H. Allen and Myron where a mutual interest will continue to exist and with that in mind I beg to inform them through you.

For past fifteen years Myron is Attorney for the second largest oil corporation in the west. He is considered outstanding and has an important following.

The youngest, H. Allen, now forty-one has his law office in Los Angeles, is member of the state legislature and was again recently nominated on both tickets by a sweeping majority for a second term which constitutes his election without a final runoff. Herewith find circular of background the foundation of which began in Dixon schools. If you deem it of interest to his friends why not hand it to Mr. Geo. Shaw. I hope you and Mrs. Shaulis will enjoy your extended vacation.

Very sincerely yours,
Allen N. Smith

Gen. M'Arthur Says Invaders Are 'Repulsed'

ing about 700 Red infantrymen near Poun.

The two other columns of the Red second division were reported 15 miles and 20 miles northeast of Poun on two rugged mountain trails that wind southward west of the town of Hamchang.

General MacArthur's press release early Tuesday also said a South Korean division withdrew from Yongju—30 miles farther northeast of Hamchang—"to more tenable positions" two miles south of Yongju.

A savage U. S. First Cavalry Division counter-attack stopped an earlier Red thrust along the mountain highway leading to Yongdong. An expected second Red attack in this sector failed to materialize in the afternoon.

Rough and Tumble Fight

In the early thrust at the first cavalry, the Reds kicked off with tanks, then shot their infantry at American lines. The fresh cavalrymen went to close quarters with the Reds and beat them back in a one hour and 15 minute rough and tumble fight.

Fighters and bombers went out at dawn Monday to support the U. S. ground troops.

B-29 Superforts struck in clear weather at Communist transport lines. They dropped 80 tons of bombs on bridges and roads leading to the Taejon front.

The Fifth Air Force moved its advance base from southern Japan to Korea. Already it has at least two fields in operation. This means shorter runs and more time over the battle front for U. S. fighter planes.

U. S. Counter Thrust

The U. S. counter thrust developed after a Communist tank attack along the mountainous, winding Taejon-Yongdong highway was stopped Sunday. That attack had no support from Red infantry.

The North Korean's tank-led infantry assault near Taejon today was driven back in a rolling, tumbling mountain fight. The Americans gained more ground than had been yielded previously.

News of the aerial and artillery-supported assault was temperated by General McArthur's report of a buildup of North Korean Communist troops in "considerable strength" on the southwestern, western and central fronts.

The enemy's sweep down the west coast gave them Kwangju, only 40 miles from the peninsula's tip and about 120 miles west of Pusan—vital U. S. supply port across the peninsula.

(The Red radio at the North Korean capital of Pyongyang reported Kwangju's capture. It said 1,000 South Koreans died in defense of the city.)

Kwangju is a rail and highway junction. It evidently was seized by comparatively small Communist forces. In their 75-mile sweep southward from Taejon they had little opposition.

Moscow, July 24.—(AP)—Russia observed navy day yesterday with calls for a strengthened Soviet fleet to counter war preparations by "American and English imperialists."

Wheat Shaky Toward Close; Lard Goes Up

Chicago, July 24—(AP)—Wheat fell toward the close on the board of trade today after showing signs of shakiness from the start.

There wasn't much pressure on the bread cereal until late in the session, when an expansion in hedging took its toll on price values. Some of the late selling may also have come from day-to-day traders who bought in the morning, grain men said.

Weakness in the bread cereal spread to corn and oats, and it also helped to chop down gains in soybeans and lard. The latter two commodities were firm most of the day, lard going to new seasonal highs in line with general fats and oil strength.

Receipts were: wheat 310 cars, corn 271, oats 162, rye none, barley 35, soybeans 114.

Reuther Asks For Return of Price Controls

Peoria, Ill., July 24—(AP) — Walter Reuther, president of the CIO United Auto Workers, yesterday called for a return of price controls "to right profiteering."

Reuther addressed the annual fish fry of UAW's local 974.

He said "We in labor will tighten our belts as necessary, but insit that industry tighten its belt too. You can mobilize a free people only on the basis of equality of sacrifice.

"Are we going to sit by and see prices again skyrocket, or are we going to say we want a just kind of price controls now to keep profiteers from getting richer? On election day we can mobilize the power of America to fight Communism abroad, but we must also mobilize the power of the people to fight profiteering at home."

Senators Lucas and Douglas (D-Ill) also addressed the gathering. Some 15,000 persons were present.

'Bumper' Rocket Given Its First Test; May Go 250 Miles

Long Range Proving Ground, Cocoa, Fla., July 24—(AP)— A two-stage "bumper" rocket thundered into the air at 8:29 a.m. (CST) today in the first horizontal test firing.

It was a preview of "push button" warfare, and the first successful rocket launching from this Florida proving ground for guided missiles.

The firing was originally scheduled for 7 a.m. (CST) but was postponed because of technical difficulties.

An attempted test firing of a similar two-stage rocket fizzled last Wednesday.

There was no immediate report on how the giant rocket behaved. Officials at the public information office said simply that the test was "successful."

Before the test officials described the expected performance this way:

The main part of the missile, a captured German V-2 rocket, will use 10 tons of fuel in approximately one minute. It will be fired vertically but shortly after the takeoff a gyroscopic steering device will turn it to go horizontally.

By the time the main part of the missile is spent, a 700-pound rocket known as a WAC Corporal, riding on its nose, will take off. The V-2 will come down at sea and the WAC Corporal will continue the flight. Both will send information back to base by radio.

The WAC Corporal is a scientific missile rather than a military weapon. Experts said it may go as far as 250 miles.

The rocket stands about 60 feet high and the V-2 is six feet in diameter at the base. The V-2 weighs 14 tons.

Told Youth Died

There they were told that Cpl. Emmett Clifton Brown, the youngest son, was aboard the crashed plane. Corporal Brown, 19, finished high school this year. There were 29 other similar messages.

At the scene of the crash an unidentified woman told would-be army rescuers that she saw two men parachute from the falling plane. But she said they dropped into the blazing wreckage. That report couldn't be verified.

Capt. W. P. Vandiver of Birmingham, Ala., a medical officer from Shaw Field in Sumter, S. C., said bodies already recovered were badly mutilated.

But they made a wrong turn and ran into a Communist road block. Machine gun fire sprayed the convoy. The convoy doubled back, eluded the Reds and paused on a mountainside to rest.

Waited for Hours

Dean said, "You can wait for me," and trudged down the mountainside toward a river, apparently to round up other stragglers. The party waited hours, then left.

Clarke led the group into a village outside the new American lines.

As for Dean, associates earlier had expressed their confidence in his resourcefulness:

"The general can take care of himself."

Attlee Stamps Portsmouth Blast As Sabotage

London, July 24—(AP)—Prime Minister Attlee stamped as sabotage today the explosion in Portsmouth harbor 10 days ago of nine ammunition barges loading explosives reportedly for Korea.

A fire on one of the barges set off a blast which injured 19 persons, destroyed a pier and damaged nearby houses and buildings.

Attlee told the house of commons the fire which caused the explosion was set "maliciously." He added:

"Enough is known about the means employed to show that they were based on considerable scientific knowledge and were carefully calculated for their effect.

"The incident thus constitutes an act of sabotage, though it has not yet been possible to establish by whom it was committeed."

Attlee said an investigation into the blast is continuing.

During the past 18 months several cases of suspected sabotage have been found in British warships.

Union of Church and State Hit at Congress of Baptists

Cleveland, July 24—(AP)—The Baptist World Congress was told today that if Europe were thoroughly Christian, the problems of the world would be well on the way to a solution.

Rev. Walter O. Lewis of London, associate general secretary of the Baptist World Alliance, spoke as the third day of the five-day meeting opened. More than 20,000 persons from 48 countries are attending.

He said Europe is important not only because of its size and population, but "because it is a way of life."

"European civilization has dominated many parts of the earth since the age of discovery and since the era of colonization set in," he pointed out.

Referring to the vital question of separation of church and state, Dr. Lewis asserted "full religious liberty does not exist where there is a state church."

"Intelligent non-comformists," he said, "advocate the separation of church and state, not only because they suffer certain disabilities, but because they feel the state churches themselves would be better off if they were freed from their connection with the state."

He pointed out that in Italy an attack on the Roman Catholic church often is regarded as an attack on the state and may result in heavy punishment.

Declaring a union of church and state always has been a handicap to the church's spiritual life, Dr. Lewis added:

"Surely it is not too much to hope that the churches themselves may realize this and of their own accord free themselves from the union."

Rail Stock Pace New York Market

New York, July 24—(AP)—Rail stocks took over leadership of the market again today.

After a distinctly wobbly start, a majority of issues sold at gains of fractions to a top of $2 a share or so. There were a number of balky spots, however, notably among motors, chemical and radio-television stocks.

Boosted were N. Y. Central, Pennsylvania, Bethlehem Steel, Youngstown Sheet, Goodrich, Sears Roebuck, Schenley and General Electric.

Holding back were General Motors, Chrysler, Studebaker, American Cyanamid, Dow Chemical and Admiral.

Phils Take Over First as Curt Simmons Wins 13th

By RALPH RODEN
Associated Press Sports Writer

The Philadelphia Whiz Kids are performing beyond Manager Eddie Sawyer's fondest expectations.

Sawyer, who brought his young charges home a surprise third last season, said in the spring that he would settle for an encore this year.

At the moment it appears that the Phils will better their 1949 deeds. In many quarters the Phils are looked upon as the next National league champions.

The lone fly in the ointment is the imminent departure of Curt Simmons, 21-year-old star left-hander, for a tour of duty with the National Guard. Simmons leaves July 29 for a 14-day hitch at Indiantown Gap, Pa. During that time the Phils are at home for 17 games.

* * *

Simmons recorded his 13th victory yesterday as the Phils cooled off the Cincinnati Reds in a doubleheader and gained undisputed possession of first place.

* * *

The $65,000 bonus beauty turned back the Reds, 12-4, in the opener. The Phils took the second, 7-4, behind Russ Meyer and Jim Konstanty to snap their tie with the St. Louis Cardinals for the top rung. The Cards beat the Boston Braves, 8-4, in a single encounter.

Simmons scattered ten hits and fanned seven while his mates came up with a 15-hit attack that included a pair of home runs by Willie Jones and one apiece by Andy Seminick and Del Ennis

Lefty Al Brazle, with help in the ninth from Harry Brecheen, stopped the Braves on 12 hits, the same number the Cards secured off Bob Chipman and Bucky Walters. The Cards however backed up Brazle with four doubleplays

Dodgers Move Up

The loss dumped the Braves from third to fourth place, with the Broklyn Dodgers moving up. The Dodgers outslugged the Pittsburgh Pirates, 11-6. The Bums broke a 6-6 tie with a four-run rally in the eighth that Gil Hodges featured with a three-run homer.

Sheldon Jones, knocked out in each of his last four starts, turned in the pitching gem of the day—3-0, one-hit victory for the New York Giants over the Chicago Cubs in the second game of a doubleheader.

The Giants also won the first game, 5-3, with Wes Westrum knocking in three runs, one on his 16th homer. Larry Jansen went the distance to gain his 10th victory

Tigers Edge Yanks

In the equally close American league pennant scramble, the pace-setting Detroit Tigers staged a two-out ninth-inning rally to whip the runner-up New York Yankees, 6-5. The win boosted the Tigers' edge to a game and a half. A victory by the Yanks, who won the first two games of the series, would have enabled them to take the lead.

With two down and a man on, Hoot Evers, Gerry Priddy and Don Kolloway singled to turn the tide. Allie Reynolds yielded the first two hits and Kolloway's game-winning blow came off Joe Page.

Bob Lemon became the major's biggest winner. He turned in his 15th triumph for the Cleveland Indians, who beat the Washington Senators, 6-2.

The Boston Red Sox whipped the St. Louis Browns, 6-2. Ellis Kinder went all the way to gain his 10th conquest.

Philadelphia vacated last place in favor of the Browns by taking a twin bill from the Chicago White Sox, 2-1 and 5-4.

Hall of Fame Dedicates New Wing Today

Cooperstown, N. Y., July 24—(AP)—A new $175,000 wing to the National Baseball Hall of Fame and museum was opened formally today by Commissioner A. B. Chandler.

Ford Frick, National league president, and Will Harridge, American league president, joined in the ceremonies, along with George Trautman, head of all the minor leagues

* * *

This pretty little upstate New York town was jammed for the gala occasion and for the annual game at Doubleday Field, pitting the Boston Red Sox of the American league against the New York Giants of the National league.

* * *

The wing which makes an "L" shaped building out of the Hall of Fame, was completed in March, and has been open to the public in recent weeks. Today's ceremonies consisted in the dedication and the cutting of a red, white, and blue ribbon stretched across the doorway.

One of the rooms in the new wing is crowded with exhibits pertaining to Babe Ruth—his uniform, bats, autographed baseballs, pictures, and trophies.

Seven of the men honored in baseball's shrine promised to attend the ceremonies: Cy Young, Charles Gehringer Mickey Cochrane, George Sisler Tris Speaker, Carl Hubbell, and Ed Walsh

Texas Softball League Uses New Ball With More 'Rabbit'

San Angelo, Tex., July 24—(AP)—Softball has been given a shot in the arm and some of these days baseball may even like it.

It all came about because the pitcher in softball had so much advantage over the batters that the players were quitting. At least, that's how it was in Texas.

Hugh Welch, president of the Texas softball league, found a simple solution—he moved the pitcher back and created a smaller ball that reacted like a baseball.

He expects it to spread nationally and thinks it may bring the warring National Softball Congress and the Amateur Softball Association together.

Welch explains that as the game progressed the pitchers literally took over. No-hit games became so common many players dropped out. They never touched the ball at bat or afield. Fifteen to twenty-inning games were not rare and 15 and above strike-outs not unusual.

Makes New Ball

Fearing the game would go stale, Welch had a ball made 11 inches in circumference instead of the conventional 12 for softball and nine for baseball. It also had more "rabbit" and was more durable. Exhibition games produced 11 strike-outs on both sides. Men who couldn't foul the ball delivered from 43 feet (1949 softball rules) were hitting the fastball (delivered from 48 feet). The ball reacted more like a baseball—hard, straight flight, more line drives over the infield, more home runs. The ball was fielded and thrown better, was faster. With the bases pack to 65 feet (instead of 60) runners had to hustle or be thrown out from the outfield.

Snead's ability to place chip shots where they would do the most good brought him a seven-under-par 65 yesterday in the final 18 holes of the scheduled 72-hole tourney. And it was Ferrier's putting that kept him in the running.

The two wound up tied at 276. Ferrier carded a one-under-par 71 for the 6,557-yard Keller course. They were two strokes ahead of their nearest competition, British Amateur Champion Frank Stranahan of Toledo, Ohio, and Jerry Barber, Philadelphia club pro.

Rockford Club Defeats Dixon In 11 Innings

The United Cigar softball club pulled some double duty at Reynolds Field last night and turned in outstanding jobs in both contests. The Cigarmen whipped Walnut in the preliminary tilt by a 9-5 score.

The ranks of the regular VFW All-Stars were sadly lacking when time for the feature tilt arrived. So, United Cigar came to the rescue. They filled in with several regular All-Stars and pushed the St. Mary's Society club from Rockford into eleven innings before dropping a 6-5 verdict.

Flash Fordham and Eddie Poore faced each other in the first game. Fordham allowed Walnut just seven hits and Poore gave up nine to the winners.

United Cigar took a 3-0 first inning lead on three hits and a walk. They added six more in the second on two hits, but one was Bob Uher's grand slam home run.

Fordham coasted to victory with a nine run lead.

Feature Was Close

The feature game was a real thriller. Rockford opened the first inning with two straight singles and scored four times before the frame was over. Rinaldo's fly ball to left pushed across the fourth run.

Dixon's Don Sloan and Bud Lair singled in the last of the first. Shaulis was out on a ground ball to the second baseman, but Knack blasted out one of his three singles of the night and pushed in two runs.

United tied the score in the last of the third. Thompson led off with a double, Sloan was safe on an error. Thompson scored on Lair's ground ball and Sloan scored on Shaulis' grounder.

Rockford added a run in the fourth when Rinaldo singled and eventually came in on a fielder's choice.

Knack singled and scored on Schumacher's bounding ball to second tying the score in the sixth.

Poore Pitches Well

Eddie Poore allowed no hits for the next four frames. Rinaldo let Dixon's Knack get one in the eighth.

In the top of the eleventh, Rinaldo was safe on an error by the second baseman. He scored on Montalbano's single. Dixon went out in order and that was the game

Rinaldo was Rockford's hero. Not only did the ace right-hander hold down the Dixon slugging, but he fielded flawlessly, covered first on difficult plays and scored twice.

Thompson and Lair had two hits for Dixon. Eddie Poore tossed an outstanding game for the Cigarmen.

Judge Pleads With U.S. to Intern Reds

Pittsburgh, July 24—(AP)—A Pittsburgh common pleas court judge who served as a war crimes jurist in Germany has asked that the federal government intern 11 western Pennsylvanians identified as Communist party leaders.

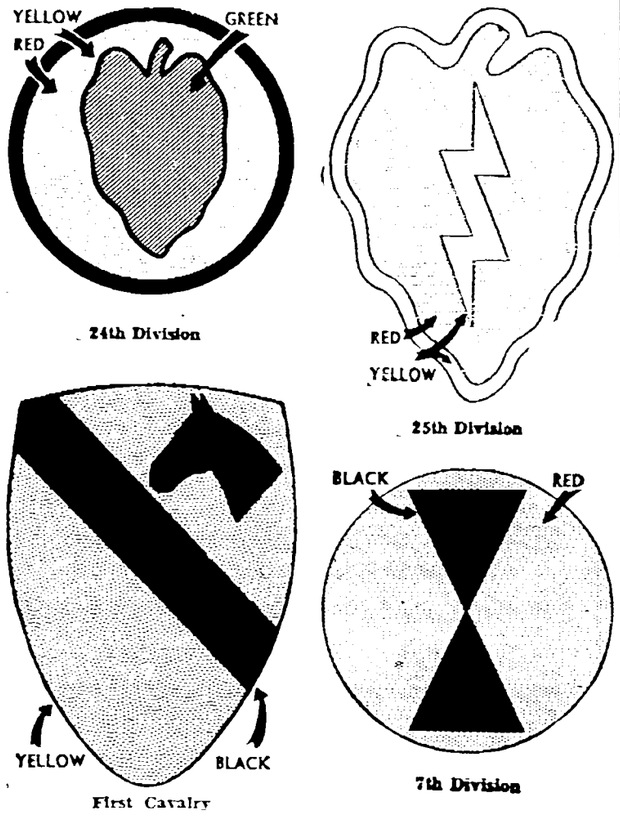
The request was made Saturday by Judge Michael A. Musmanno in a letter to U. S. Attorney General J. Howard McGrath.

Judge Musmanno said the 11 are "engaged in activities which, if unchecked, may threaten certain phases of the United States government, the government of Pennsylvania and the welfare of the American people.

The jurist said all 11 of the men were identified as Communists by Matt Cvetic, former FBI undercover agent, in testimony before the house committee on unAmerican activities several months ago.

The 11 were identified by Judge Musmanno as: Steve Nelson, western Pennsylvania organizer of the Communist party; Andy Onda, Gabor Kish, Jim Dolson, Leo Fisher, William Albertson, Sam Reed, Calvin Brook, Dave Grant, Bill Gordon, and Harold Orzick.

The U. S. Department of Agriculture recommends the insecticide toxaphene for ticks, lice and horn flies on all livestock except dairy cows.



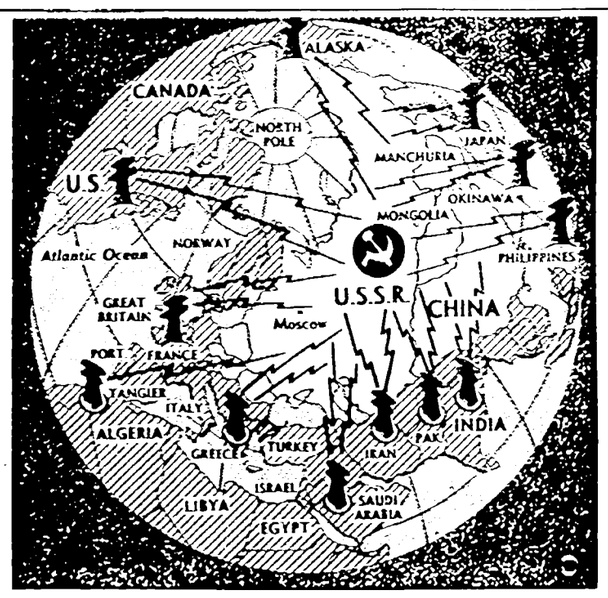
KOREAN BATTLE LINE-UP—Here are the insignia of U. S. army divisions under General MacArthur. All except the 7th division are already in action in South Korea. En route from the United States to join the Korean fight is the famed First Marine Division.

Carnival — By Dick Turner

"Y'know, with all this spy scare going around, wouldn't it be a good idea to soft-pedal this angle about me being a product of the little red schoolhouse?"

Side Glances — By Galbraith

"All right, daddy, you proved you could win it. Now let's give it to someone we don't like!"



LOUD SPEAKERS—A $200,000,000 ring of American radio stations to encircle the U. S. S. R. and its satellite nations is being considered by Congress, following its recommendation by Brig.-Gen. David Sarnoff, chairman of the board of RCA. Map shows how programs, telling the American story, would be beamed into the Iron Curtain countries. General Sarnoff estimated that the $200,000,000 initial cost would be about the price of two battleships and that maintenance would run about $50,000,000 a year.

North Korean Troops Fight 'Murderously'

Washington, July 24—(AP)—American soldiers in Korea are battling a strange enemy whose identity is uncertain, whose commanders are nameless, who fights murderously.

The northern enemy looks exactly like the southern friend. The enemy uses this to advantage to strike by stealth.

Even the best official records at the Pentagon are reported to contain the name of only one North Korean commander. This is in sharp contrast with World War II days, when the names of enemy field commanders were almost as familiar to American readers as those of United States leaders—Japanese like General Yamashita or Germans like Field Marshal Von Rundstedt.

Pentagon in Dark

What is the "North Korean army" besides North Koreans?

To date, the only official information has been a terse Pentagon statement that between 10 and 20 Russian officers are advisers with "a certain North Korean unit." How many others with other units? Apparently that's not known.

Because of battlefield captures of enemy soldiers, equipment and records, we seemed to have a little better information on the identity of North Korean army units.

More than half a dozen North Korean divisions have been identified in action, including the 1st, 2nd, 3rd, 4th, 5th, 6th and 15th. North Korean divisions average about 10,000 men, compared with 17,000 for a full-strength American army division.

The enemy is a curious mixture of Asiatic and Russian Communist thinking. The result is alarming. He fights ferociously, with the fatalism of the Oriental and the fanaticism of the Communist.

One of his most effective devices thus far has been infiltration—the practice of slipping through the U. S.-South Korean lines in the guise of a refugee, then shooting from behind.

The Far East command said in a recent communique that Lt. Gen. Walton H. Walker was giving "prompt and vigorous" attention to this practice.

Difficult Problem

The problem has been extremely difficult. There is no difference in appearance, in language or in personal customs between South and North Koreans.

Dispatches from the front said yesterday that the Eighth Army has a new policy to deal with disguised enemy guerrillas: Noncombatants are moved out of battle areas, all refugees are screened closely, and anyone found with the zone thereafter is presumed to be an enemy.
